The grapes were whole cluster pressed and settled overnight. Day two the juice is racked off the lees and warmed to 60 degrees to encourage fermentation. Native fermentation began after three days and then the fermenting juice was barreled down into stainless steel and oak barrels. Fermentation lasted for approximately twenty days and the wine was stirred for three months.

TASTING NOTES

Our Sauvignon Blanc is sourced from Somerson Estate in the eastern hills of Napa Valley. It is beautifully balanced with aromas of lemon, lychee and honeysuckle. Peach and grapefruit emerge on the palate along with the perfect amount of acidity.
